

Taketomikai Gasshuku 2019

The 1st and 2nd June 2019 the club Arti marziali Mendrisio (Taketomikai) hosts an interstile martial arts symposium (Taketomikai Gasshuku) with two special guests, Johan Backetman (7. dan, Sweden) and Pietro Di Rauso (founder of MAKA fighting system, Italy). The symposium is open to all interested parties upon registration.

The Taketomikai Gasshuku offers a two-day seminar with international guests, experts in various martial disciplines. The 2019 edition will feature the participation of Johan Backetman and Pietro Di Rauso, experts in karate, kobudō, personal defense, wing chun, MMA.

Johan Backetman is 7. dan kyoshi of karate Motobuha Shitoryu. This school originated in Japan at the beginning of the last century and was founded by the nephew of the king of Okinawa, Chōki Motobu. School head (sōke) descendant of the Motobuha Shitōryū was Shōgō Kuniba who later developed his own karate system, self defense (goshindō), iaidō (Japanese sword), kobudō (traditional Japanese weapons). On this occasion Backetman will propose a seminar by Kunibaryū goshindō (self-defense) and Kunibaryū kobudō, with a bo (long stick) lesson.

Pietro Di Rauso is a particularly well-known martial artist on the web (over 100,000 followers on Facebook). Publicly praised by Steven Segal, he proposes a personal martial system, the MAKA fighting system, which has its roots in wing chun, including jujitsu, boxing, etc. Peculiar to Di Rauso is its speed and flexibility, combined with considerable technical wealth. Di Rauso is also a mixed martial arts trainer (MMA) and this seminar is particularly suitable for those interested in contemporary martial systems.

The idea of this symposium is to propose an extended view of martial arts, bringing classical martial arts closer to modern ones, thus giving an interesting solution of continuity to practitioners of these disciplines.

The Taketomikai Gasshuku will take place with a limited number on 1st and 2nd June 2019, from 10:00 am to 5:00 pm, at the multi-purpose gym hall of the Genestrerio district in Mendrisio in Via Campagnola 13.

Hurry up to register.
